The Hunt For Blackwolf
In High Adventure Sequel

Blackwolf, an action-packed diving adventure by Jon Coon and the sequel to the author's highly-acclaimed novel Thief of the Deep, has just been released by Aqua Quest Publications. Called "one of America's top writers of modern sea adventure" by best selling author Clive Cussler, Coon continues the exploits of ex-Navy SEAL Doc Holiday in a tale of deep diving, underwater demolitions and plundered treasures from the deep.

Hunting for clues to the mysterious disappearance of Blackwolf, a deadly high-tech submarine, Doc penetrates a sunken tunnel leading into Bermuda's former British Royal Navy fortress. Surviving an ambush and entrapment in Blackwolf's former lair, Doc picks up enough clues to track Blackwolf to the Cayman Islands.

Lurking beneath an ocean crevasse near the edge of the Cayman abyss, Blackwolf waits to launch an attack of unimaginable horror. Can it be stopped before thousands die? Doc vows to destroy Blackwolf and her evil crew, led by the old Nazi U-boat captain Hans Behrmann. From the Cayman Islands to the inner sanctum of the White House, follow Doc as he tries to stay one step ahead of Jack Morgan, a power broker and advisor to presidents with surprising ties to the Middle East who wants it all.

In writing Blackwolf Jon Coon has drawn heavily on his experiences as a navy medic, commercial oil field diver specializing in underwater demolitions, diving safety and training officer for NASA, scientific diver, scuba instructor trainer, English teacher and seminary graduate. The author is currently the southeast regional manager of the Professional Association of Diving Instructors (PADI), the largest scuba certifying agency in the world.
